

Excursions and tours

Excursions and tours form an integral part of the B.Ed. curriculum, providing student-teachers with valuable opportunities for experiential and practical learning beyond the classroom. These educational visits enable students to explore real-life situations, observe functioning schools, educational institutions, historical monuments, museums, and community organisations. Such experiences help them relate theoretical knowledge gained in lectures to practical applications in diverse educational and social settings.

Through excursions, student-teachers gain a firsthand understanding of different teaching methods, classroom environments, and administrative practices followed in various institutions. Visiting historical, geographical, and cultural sites enhances their general awareness and appreciation of the rich cultural heritage of the country. It also develops in them a sense of social responsibility and national pride.

Excursions and tours foster teamwork, cooperation, discipline, leadership qualities, and decision-making skills among students. They also strengthen interpersonal relationships and promote emotional and social development. Furthermore, these experiences inspire creativity and critical thinking by exposing students to new ideas and perspectives.

Overall, excursions and educational tours are not merely recreational activities but powerful tools for holistic teacher preparation. They enrich the professional competence of B.Ed. students, broaden their horizons, and prepare them to become reflective, empathetic, and socially aware educators in the future.
